DARKEN GRAY HAIR.

So Naturally that Nobody can tell.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the bair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itch-ing scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago i e only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and

CHINESE WOMEN ENTER MONARCHY MOVEMENT WITH VEHEMENT ENERGY

Peking, Dec. 1.—Chinese women the campaign have also omitted to re-have entered into the monarchial mind the women of the country of movement with a vehemence which would do credit to Mrs. Pankhurst and her most aggressive followers.

This manifesto immediately called forth a protest from a large body of women anti-suffragettes, who deplored the effort to involve women in the political movement. These protestants not only denounced the attempt stomach, nausea, debilitating head-aches, dizziness or intestinal griping. They declare that the more marks in their cri-ticism of the monarchical movement. But to our great disappointment, not a single word has been uttered by our women, nor has there been a single one among our 'sisters' who has folone among our 'sisters' who has followed the lead of the men in this make direct attacks on the personal movement. foot of the throne?
"According to the constitutional compact, the sovereignty of the country is vested in the people of the whole country. The people of the whole country naturally means the people of both sexes. Out of the 400,000,000 people, half are women. If we let the men alone promote this movement, not only will the movement be incomplete but it will seem that men alone are entitled to rights that belong equally to women. If our women do not understand the importance of this, it may be due to sheer ignorance, but if some of them understand, vet remain inactive and indifferent to the movement, they will be guilty of neglecting their duty to the country.

"We admit that the intelligence of the mass of our women is still at a very low standard, but they have the same interest in the country and have the same desire for the safety of their person and property as the men. Why should we women remain passive without raising a hand to support the movement? Being women, we are of frail constitution and limited education, yet we have been deeply con-cerned with the unsettled conditions of the country and cannot but express our anxiety for its welfare. It is sincerely hoped that the 'two hundred million women' of this country will awaken to the importance of duty and follow the lead of the patriotic men by petitioning the govern-ment for the restoration of a monarchy."

Vernacular papers contain reports of associations of women organizing in various Chinese cities, and there are repeated efforts of the rival or-ganizations to discount each other's strength. Apparently there is little fear of libel in the Chinese papers,

London, Dec. 1.—India's youngest war prince has just won the military cross for marked gallantry. He is Second Lieutspant Bena Jodha Jang Bahadur of the 39th Carwal Rifles grandson of the Maharajah of Nepal. The official account of his bravery

"During a feint attack north of the La Basse Canal, he commanded a double company with great ability and conspicuous gallantry In face of a severe fire from rifles, machine guns, ery was previously observed on Sep-tember 25, when he led his men with marked gallantry right up to the Ger-man wire under heavy rifle and machine gun fire."

The prince is now in a London hospital recovering from two wounds re-ceived in the La Basse encounter. He is something less than twenty-five ears old.

"I take my men into action armed with kukris as well as rifles," he told an interviewer at the hospital, but we don't often get a chance to use the knives. When we get near the enemy, they always surrender. They have heard of our kukris.

"In peace and war we keep up our skill in the use of the kukri. At our principal festival every man has to use his knife. We have goats and buffaloes for victims. If a man takes wo strokes to dispatch his animal, instead of doing it with one clean stroke,
